

I feel there should be no requirement to flag for broadcast transmissions. It does seem to be a good idea at first, however it also prevents the consumers' rights to fair use. These rights are guaranteed under US law code title 17, chapter 1, section 107. It is wrong to impair an American citizen's rights in any way, which is exactly what this would be doing. Especially in lieu of the recent articles coming forth which are showing that a vast majority of digital piracy actually comes from inside of companies, and not from end users, I cannot support this measure. Thank you sincerely for your time.
